1. [REDACTED] Comment. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] they probably were tanks of the Fourth Gds Mecz Army and belonged to details which, beginning January 1953, rotated to troop training grounds for short-term firing practices as held in 1952.

2. [REDACTED] Comment. The entraining was performed by units of the 880th Eng Bn of the XXVIII Gds Mtz Rifle Corps which, according to other information, moved on two trains from Templin to Rudolstadt on 24 and 25 January 1953. The information tends to indicate that the building activity of this battalion which had been believed under way at the Templin troop training grounds had terminated in late January.
